QUARTER MILLION LOSS

Wrought By Cyclone Which Swept Over Bourbon County Saturday Morning.

MANY HOUSES IN CITY

Unroofed By Terrific Gale, while Loss in County will Reach Appalling Figures.

Damage estimated at a quarter million dollars resulted from a cyclone which swept over Paris and Bourbon county Saturday morning. A number of houses in the business district of the city were unroofed by the force of the high wind and masses of debris hurled through the buildings and into the streets imperiling the lives of hundreds of people.

Panics ensued in many stores and business houses where scores of persons had taken refuge from the high wind and but fortunately cooler heads prevented any injury to excited persons. Only two casualties were reported. Frank Ralls, a negro cook employed on the farm of James Caldwell, near this city, was badly burned when a temporary kitchen in which he was preparing dinner for a threshing crew, was blown over. He sustained injuries to his right arm and was also badly burned about the head and face. He was taken to Millersburg, where his injuries were dressed and was able to come to Paris Saturday afternoon.

Willis Fite, a tenant on the farm of Baldwin Bros., near Paris, was struck by lightning, but not seriously injured. He was at his home when the bolt of lightning was conducted to his house striking Fite on the right shoulder and knocking him down. His clothing and shoes were torn from his body and he suffered a few burns. He soon revived and is now able to be out.

The elemental disturbance came without any notice of its approach being given. There was no indication of a storm until a dark cloud appeared on the Southwest horizon and grew steadily darker. The most disconcerted feature of the storm was the darkness. It was almost as black as midnight, the abrupt change coming upon a morning of unusual brightness. The threatening elements sent the hundreds of people on the streets into places of shelter, many of them running from fright, while others thought only of evading the downpour of rain which seemed imminent.

In less than five minutes after the cloud appeared, coming from the Southwest, the earth was overcast with a darkness that was never before witnessed at a time so near mid-day. The wind was blowing a terrible gale and the temperature began to decline, dropping about fifteen degrees in as many minutes. When the storm was at its height the electric service failed and the entire city was plunged into darkness. This added to the discomfort of the inhabitants who feared a repetition of the disastrous storm of 1889.

The storm continued with unabated fury for half an hour and during the period a heavy pall which resembled smoke or fog overhung the city. The gale struck the city with a fury that threatened the destruction of a large portion of the business section and the residence districts in its path. Indicated by the destruction wrought, the most dangerous portion of the twister struck the city about eighth street and covered an area of several squares to East Paris.

Many persons residing in the South end of the city and in the more elevated sections are able to give a graphic description of the cyclone. A number watched its approach little realizing the danger they faced. It is said by a number of those who ventured to view the approach that the cyclone resembled an immense funnel extending from the black clouds and at times almost reaching the earth.

The gale was accompanied by rain and hail, and in some section of the county hail stones larger than marbles fell destroying tobacco crops, while corn was leveled with the ground by the wind. The down-pour in this city lasted for half an hour and was the heaviest rain that has fallen in this city in years.

Paris was practically cut off from the outside world for a time, owing to the destruction of both telephone and telegraph wires. Only one wire of the Western Union Telegraph Co. leading from this city was intact, while the Postal Telegraph Co. was without means of communication. Long distance telephone lines were put out of commission and it was some time before long distance communication could be established.

Traffic over the interurban line to Lexington ceased when the heavy wind destroyed the poles and trolley wires. Trees were blown across the tracks and poles were snapped off at the ground and blown across the road.

The path of the storm was about eight miles wide and in its wake it left nothing but destruction. It extended from a point east of the Greenwich pike on the Lexington road to a point about four miles west of Paris. The lower end of the county suffered but little as a result of the gale.

Great damage was suffered by the merchants of this city whose places of business were unroofed by the heavy wind, and the stores were drenched with the down-pour that followed, entailing a heavy loss to stocks of goods and business property.

In some stores where a large number of clerks were employed great excitement reigned and many narrow escapes are reported. All of the

STOMACH TROUBLE FOR FIVE YEARS

Majority of Friends Thought Mr.
Hughes Would Die, But
One Helped Him to Recovery.

Pomeroyton, Ky.—In interesting advices from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die. I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good. I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try Theford's Black-Draught, and quit taking other medicines. I decided to take his advice, although I did not have any confidence in it.

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me—haven't had those awful sick headaches since I began using it.

I am so thankful for what Black-Draught has done for me."

Theford's Black-Draught has been found a very valuable medicine for derangements of the stomach and liver. It is composed of pure, vegetable herbs, contains no dangerous ingredients, and acts gently, yet surely. It can be freely used by young and old, and should be kept in every family chest.

THIEVES NEVER QUIT

Once Started Continued Through Life, Say Detectives.

Sleuth Tells of Apple, Chewing Gum, Secret Packet and Dog Collar Schemes in Stores—Loss From This Source Heavy.

New York.—Four Years ago Lottie Gross married. Her husband knew that she had served a term in Moyamensing for shoplifting. But she promised him—and she meant it—that she would never steal again. And then the baby came. "I wanted pretty things for her," said Lottie. "And so I went back to the old game. If I couldn't quit for the best man in the world I guess I never can quit. Stealing is like a disease—except that it can't be cured."

That's about what the detectives think. Once a man or woman gets well started at stealing and he or she is a thief for life.

"The big stores lose more by amateur shoplifters than by professionals," said D. J. Botter, manager for the criminal department of a detective agency. "A woman steals some trifling thing, that catches her eye—and gets away with it. Then she comes back—and keeps on coming back. They never let up."

Cotter takes the professional thief-catcher's view of the defense of kleptomania. Now and then there may be a kleptomaniac. Most kleptomaniacs are just thieves. They get started to stealing—and it's like rolling a snowball down hill—the stealing grows.

"There was the woman we may call Anna Eva," he said. "She is one of the most dangerous professional store thieves and shoplifters—there is a difference in the terms—in the country. Her husband is a captain of a lake vessel. So is one of her sons. They have a good home at Cleveland, where the daughter is married to a good man. But Anna Eva began to steal. She has been a professional thief for years, and now has a prison record."

"Mind you, she has no criminal associates. I do not suppose she knows another thief to speak to, though she may know them by sight. She has nothing to do with other crooks. She just steals. She travels most of the time, living at good hotels. She is a kindly, placid, pleasant woman of middle age—and a professional thief. Like all the others, she began as an amateur."

"I don't know that there are any particularly new schemes against which store managers should be on the alert," said Cotter. "Every one knows the old trick with a hunk of chewing gum. The first thief sticks a ring under the ledge of the counter with the gum. Then the other comes along and runs his hand under the counter edge and gets the ring and vamooses. Open umbrellas are often used as receptacles."

The neatest trick turned lately was in the west, when a good looking, well dressed man sauntered into a jewelry store with an apple in his hand. He looked at a tray filled with valuable rings.

"Wah!" he suddenly sputtered. "This apple is wormy."

Whereupon he threw the apple into the street. The confederate, on the lookout, picked up the apple and the gem which had been hidden in it and made off. An almost equally nifty device is to equip the collar of a pet dog with a secret pocket. When the stolen ring has been placed in the pocket, while the operator is petting the animal, it leaps to the floor.

"Catch my dear little doggie," yelps the bereaved shoplifter.

Every one hurries to oblige. The dear little doggie fits its little tail into the groove and scampers for home, as it has been trained to do.

The shoplifter profits by the fact that the managers of stores hesitate to prosecute. They believe that honest customers are inclined to shun stores in which such arrests are frequently made, fearing that an entirely innocent action might lead to an unpleasant seizure and search. But the total loss by shoplifting and by store thieves is so great that the National Retail Dry Goods association was recently formed for co-operation in protection.

He claimed to have built the first apartment house in New York, at the corner of Sixth avenue and Forty-eighth street.

After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by all dealers.

Doubling Human Life.

In 1866 the public health conditions of New York were in so low a state that the average length of life of the inhabitants was 30 years. In 1912 these conditions had been improved so that the average length of life was 66 years. Thus the value of human life, reckoned in terms of time alone, had more than doubled in less than half a century.—Century Magazine.

RID YOUR CHILDREN OF WORMS.

You can change fretful, ill-tempered children into healthy, happy youngsters by ridding them of worms. Tossing, rolling, grinding of teeth, crying out while asleep, accompanied by intense thirst, pains in the stomach and bowels, feverishness and bad breath, are symptoms that indicate worms. Kickapoo Worm Killer, a pleasant candy lozenge, expels the worms, regulates the bowels, restores your children to health and happiness. Mrs. J. A. Brisben, of Elgin, Ill., says: "I have used Kickapoo Worm Killer for years and it entirely rid my children of worms. I would not be without it." Guaranteed. All druggists, or by mail. Price 25c. Even Worse Grievance.

"Your worship," said the prisoner, "you don't know how heartrending it is to have a wife who can cook but won't do it." "No," said his honor, and then added, feelingly: "Thank goodness, man, you haven't one that can't cook and will do it."

STOCK CHUTE QUITE USEFUL

Built on Wheels and Axle of Old Mower Useful Device May Be Hauled to All Parts of Farm.

Perhaps every farmer has occasion to load some animal into a wagon and many of them prepare for this by building a stock chute. Frequently these chutes are built as permanent fixtures in connection with the feed lots, but they are often made so that they can be transported from one part of the farm to another. When a chute of this kind is built heavy and strong enough to support the weight of a mature hog or a large calf it becomes a clumsy thing to move. Mr. R. J. Linscott, Holton, Kas., has solved this problem of inconvenience in a very easy way.

The wheels and axle used in making his stock chute are parts of old machinery found on the farm, the wheels being taken from an old mower. The upper end of the chute is provided with two strong iron hooks, which are sharpened so as to engage the bottom of the wagon bed and prevent slipping after the animal starts upward. With such an arrangement there is no difficulty in building a chute of ample strength, because the question of weight has relatively little importance. The chute can be hooked on behind the wagon and hauled to any part of the farm.

CULLING OUT THE OLD EWES

Good Shepherds Do Not Hesitate to Get Rid of Grandmothers Before They Go Down Hill.

Usually by the time that a ewe has reached the age of seven years she has spent most of her usefulness as a breeder and mother. Good shepherds do not hesitate to cull out these old grandmothers before they go down hill. They usually pick up in flesh shortly after weaning time, and can be best marketed just as they come from pasture—without fattening. Old ewes "break in the mouth," so to speak, and cannot eat. Naturally they keep going down in flesh, waste much of their food, and frequently their mouths get so sore they will not take sufficient food to fatten them. The wool becomes shorter and shorter with advancing age, says the Farm Press, and lacks several pounds of the weights they show in their prime. Lambs from old ewes are never as satisfactory. The milk supply falls short, and the lamb is dwarfed and stunted so that it never makes a thrifty feeder.

Their presence in the flock detracts from its appearance and value. One or two old ewes in a flock of prime breeders will often hurt the sale value as much as a dollar a head. For these reasons, then, cull closely and keep only the best prime breeding ewes. With the price of mutton and wool so low as it is, he cannot afford to keep other than those from which the best returns can be expected.

FEW CAUSES FOR INFECTIONS

Estimated That 85 Per Cent. of All Losses From Hog Diseases Arises From Dreaded Cholera.

One cause of infection in hogs is improper feeding, which includes unbalanced rations, overfeeding, underfeeding, irritating food (such as garbage, soured slops, etc.), insanitary feed troughs and impure drinking water. Also may be mentioned insufficient housing, especially during the heat of summer and the cold of winter, dampness, insanitary condition of the pens or houses, overcrowding of sleeping quarters, etc.

It has been estimated that 85 per cent. of all losses from hog diseases arise from cholera. The need of all precautions against infection and spread is therefore apparent. It is within the power of all hog raisers to guard against the contributory cause enumerated above; and the simple statement of the causes also points the way for prevention.

Use Your Own Corn.

If a farmer can feed his 60-cent corn to good hogs which will pay him 80 cents for it, does he not make an advance on the price of his corn and profit in the fertility returned to the soil, as well as saving the expense in hauling?

Shed for Sheep.

Don't keep sheep in a damp basement. They want a dry floor to stand on. If you have not a good shed build one with a floor two feet from the ground.

MAIDEN ABDUCTS YOUNG MAN

Shy Sweetheart Is Carried to Mountain Fastness and Married by Force.

Odesa.—The forcible abduction and compulsory marriage of a Caucasian youth are reported from Kutais. A pretty girl of sixteen, named Rogova, who lives in the village of Kulis-Kari, fell in love with a handsome boy of the same age named Sari, who lived in a neighboring hamlet.

Either from shyness or from disinclination, Sari did not respond to the love-sick maiden's advances, and she therefore enlisted the aid of a band of young tribesmen, who made a raid at night on the dwelling of Sari's parents and carried the youth off to a hill fastness, where Rogova was waiting for him.

At first Sari rejected the proffered hand of Rogova, but his abductors threatened to kill him on the spot unless he made her his bride. Under compulsion Sari consented.

The next day the abductors made another raid in a different direction and bore to the rendezvous a clergyman, who unwillingly solemnized the marriage of Rogova and Sari.

In the meantime an armed party organized by the boy's parents, who are well-to-do people, had found the trail of the fugitives, but they arrived too late to prevent the marriage. After a stormy scene the opposing parties were reconciled and Rogova bore off her now smiling bridegroom in triumph to her home in Kulis-Kari. The couple since express themselves as highly pleased with the outcome of the girl's bold move, but her word is the law of the household.

BONES OF GREAT ANTIQUITY

Smithsonian Official Delving for Fossils Near Cumberland, Md.—Many "Finds" Made.

Cumberland, Md.—James W. Gidley, assistant curator in the National museum, Washington, assisted by Raymond W. Armbruster, a local fossil expert, has been working several days in the pit above Burke's near Corriganville, this county, about four miles from Cumberland, unearthing fossilized animal bones supposed to be thousands of years old.

The traces of the fossils were discovered last November by Mr. Armbruster, who notified the Smithsonian authorities. A minor investigation was made, resulting in some valuable finds. The present quest has not been disappointing, some wonderful discoveries having been made, it is said, with the end not yet in sight.

The bones are in perfect condition and scientists believe they are working on one of the greatest fossil finds in the history of the country. The marrow of the bones is crystallized and has the appearance of clusters of diamonds or quartz.

"CHAPEL OF REST" FOR POOR

Holborn Council Provides Place for Dead Pending Burial—A Valuable Reform.

London.—A valuable reform which should be of much use to the poor has been made in Holborn, where the borough council has opened what is called a "chapel of rest." The object of the chapel is, to provide a place to which the poor can take their dead pending burial. No charge will be made. The need of this innovation is clear and pressing. Thousands of Londoners live in one-roomed tenements, and when death occurs are forced for the time to live with their dead. There are also still about a thousand underground rooms occupied by the poor. It is hoped that other borough councils will follow the example of Holborn.

NARROWLY ESCAPES ACID POISONING.

Mr. George W. Davis, the venerable merchant and undertaker, of this city, had a narrow escape from carbolic acid poisoning Friday morning. Mr. Davis had not been feeling well for several days and decided to take a drink of cordial. A bottle of carbolic acid had been set near the cordial bottle, and he secured the wrong bottle. Raising it to his lips he immediately felt the burn of the acid, and quickly realized his mistake. Mr. Davis suffered a few burns to his lips but aside from this he is none the worse off from his experience.

Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Thompson entertained with an elegant dance for their charming daughter, Miss Sarah Thompson, Friday evening at Elks' Hall. The spacious hall was tastefully decorated in pink and green, plants and streamers being used very effectively. Inspiring music was furnished by Thomas' Saxophone trio, and the room was delightfully cooled by electric fans. The dance was gracefully led by Miss Thompson, daintily gown in lavender charmeuse with net drapery, and Dr. Frank Fithian, her uncle. The refreshments were furnished by Hughes, of Lexington, and consisted of ices formed as pink roses with foliage and individual cakes and mints in the arty colors.

Delicious punch was served throughout the evening at a beautifully appointed table by the hostess' aunt, Mrs. J. C. Elgin.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and Miss Thompson were assisted in receiving the guests by Dr. and Mrs. Frank Fithian.

Mrs. Thompson was very handsome in a gown of white charmeuse, draped in bronze net.

Mrs. Fithian wore a lovely gown of pink crepe.

EPWORTH LEAGUE GIVES A DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL.

The members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church gave a social Thursday evening on the lawn of Mrs. Ella Mernaugh's residence, on Seventh street, which was a delightful affair. The lawn was lighted with Japanese lanterns, and a graphophone furnished the music. The occasion was designed to mark the close of a membership campaign, which resulted in the addition of twenty-one young members to the already flourishing organization, which is a very helpful factor in the work of the church, and which is increasing in members and in usefulness under the splendid leadership of Mr. Dennis Snapp, the president.

Rev. J. B. Harris, of Lexington, Kentucky Conference President of the Epworth League, was present, and made an address to the leaguers, which abounded in words of encouragement and advice. Mr. Harris spoke from the steps of the porch, which was decorated with the colors of the league white and gold, and with the Greek cross, their emblem.

The members of the Christian Endeavor Society were invited to be the guests of the league for the social, and after the address delicious ices and cakes were served at two beautifully appointed long tables on the lawn.

EDISON'S TALKING PICTURES AT THE GRAND WEDNESDAY.

Edison's Kinetophone will be at the Paris Grand Wednesday, July 23. The electrical wizard has been at work on the "talking pictures" for a number of years and it was only when he was assured of absolute perfection that he would allow it to be presented to the amusement world. It is said that he has surpassed his own wonder record of electric light, phonograph, fluoroscope, kineoscope and countless other marvels by his latest magical invention, the Kinetophone. Certainly the press of the country everywhere these talking pictures have been shown, is universal in its praise.

The large program which will be given here combines musical comedy, drama, vaudeville and special feature numbers, and consumes two hours in the showing.

PROFITABLE WEIGHT OF PIGS

Experiments Prove Conclusively That Animal Should Never Be Fed After Nine Months Old.

Experiments made for the purpose of determining the economic weight of a pig show conclusively that he never should be fed beyond eight or nine months old, and the largest profit is found, as a rule, in a eight not exceeding 200 pounds. What is known as the food of support, says a writer in the Farm and Home, plays a very important part in the profit and loss of large weights.

Suppose, as many farmers say, that a pig is not to be killed until he reaches 300 pounds. He must take from his food an increasing amount each day to support or maintain the weight already gained, or else he drops back. The experiments indicate that two per cent. of the live weight in food must be taken each day to support that live weight.

If the animal weighs 300 pounds
this amounts to six pounds of food daily, or over 40 pounds per week, and as the only profit is the food that is applied to make new weight, it results that over 40 pounds of food are consumed per week from which no profit whatever is reaped. It follows that the more money can be made from young hogs killed at a medium weight.

OVERFEED HORSES WITH HAY

If Stomach Is Kept Full of Bulky Food
Extra Work Is Imposed on Respiratory System.

Too much hay fed to the farm horse is an injury and often lessens his working efficiency, according to the Oregon experiment station. Every time a horse inflates his lungs the stomach is displaced, and if this organ is kept full of bulky food extra work is imposed on the respiratory system. Heaves, colic and other forms of indigestion are often due to this cause. There is also a waste that should be conserved.

A horse weighing 1,000 pounds will do more work and keep in better health on 15 pounds of hay daily than on 20 pounds. Feed him ten pounds at night and five pounds in the morning and he will perform more labor with greater ease than he would if hay were kept before him all the time.

A horse weighing 1,500 to 1,800
pounds does not need more than 20 pounds of hay a day, and the rest of his nutriment should be grain.

USEFUL FOR RINGING SWINE

Device Constructed on Plan of Dehorning Chute Will Hold Hogs
of Different Sizes.

My hog holder is made on the plan of a dehoring chute and is the best I have yet seen. It will hold a 30-pound pig or a 400-pound hog equally well, at ringing time, writes W. C.
Buffington of Guedo Springs, Kan., in the Farmers Mail and Breeze. The frame is made of 2 by 4's bolted together at top and bottom. The lever may be shifted at the bottom to fit

For Holding Hogs.

large or small hogs' heads. The opening in the lever and frame, which is closed over the hog's neck, is eight inches from the base. The handle is notched at its upper end into which a short piece of 2 by 4 catches to hold the lever in place when an animal is caught. This piece is hinged to the frame.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Pigs should be changed to fresh pasture frequently.

Now is the time to get cheap gains
on the spring pigs.

Be sure there is plenty of fresh water in every pasture.

Look out for the ewes. Good ewes are good property, always.

Live stock on the farm will turn un-marketable feeds into money.

Every care should be taken to get the lambs to start eating grain.

If you want to have peace of mind,
fix up the fence around the sheep pasture.

There is nothing like a cement hog wallow to keep the hogs contented and comfortable in hot weather.

If young pigs become blistered by the hot sun, grease their backs and put them in a shady pasture.

Inbreeding is dangerous with all types of farm stock. It always pays to get new and vigorous blood.

If you are buying a horse, get him on a slow trot. Then, if ever, he will show any lameness he may have.

A close watch should be kept upon all ewes with young lambs, to avoid loss by setbacks in lamb growth.

JOURNEY IN MEXICO

Experience of American Couple at Hands of Rebels.

M. B. Felsor and His Bride Relieved of Automobile and Horses Are Forced to Travel Miles
Through Trackless Country.

San Antonio, Tex.—M. B. Felsor and his bride are in the remote border town of Boquillas, resting from a strenuous trip of 200 miles through the mountainous portion of northern Mexico, which they made to escape death at the hands of outlaws.

Mr. Felsor was manager of a ranch on the plateau known as Llano de los Cristianos, more than 300 miles from the nearest railroad point. He is an American. While on a visit to San Antonio, Tex., several weeks ago he married Miss Dora Seltrous. The young lady was reared on a ranch in western Texas, and when her husband suggested that she remain with her parents in San Antonio pending an improvement of conditions in Mexico she told Mr. Felsor that nothing would delight her more than to be with him upon the remote Mexican ranch among quiet surroundings.

"Our troubles began shortly after we crossed the Rio Grande at Eagle Pass on our way to the ranch," said Mr. Felsor. "On my way out of the country I had left my motor car at Eagle Pass and my wife and I started to the ranch in it. We were below the boundary line, when we were held up by a ragged Mexican and a number of peons, who informed us they were constitutionalists.

The leader said he would have to commandeer my automobile. He confiscated it, giving me a receipt for its value, the sum to be paid when the constitutionalists get control of the government. I made vigorous protest against the proceedings, threatening to bring down the wrath of the United States government upon their heads.
They only laughed and shrugged their shoulders. I finally managed to enlist their sympathy enough to get them to provide us with two horses with which to continue our journey. On the fifth day a troop of 20 armed men surrounded our hut.

"I knew the desperate character of many of the border Mexicans and what I worst feared was an attempt on the part of the band to carry off my bride. It looked like serious trouble when three of the Mexicans dismounted and stood in a group discussing the situation in low tones.
They had already taken possession of our two horses and saddles. With their rifles in their hands the three men walked to the door and peered inside. When the intruders saw us they removed their hats and bowed in the courteous manner that is common to all Mexicans. They are polite even when about to commit murder.

"In a quiet, polite way, the Mexicans told me the constitutionalists were in need of horses and money.
Would I and my beautiful lady please deliver over to them what money we had and also turn over our horses for the good of the cause?

"The argument I made was useless.
We were made to comply with the demands of the rebels, or outlaws, whichever they were, and were glad nothing worse had happened to us. We were left stranded in a desolate region, without money or means of traveling, except on foot. I asked the sheep herder if there were any cattle ranches in the neighborhood. To our delight, he informed us that the ranch of Bill Blocker, an American,
was only 15 miles away.

"We set out next morning on foot to the Blocker ranch. It took us all day to get to the ranch, where we were welcomed by one of the Blocker boys. We were given two horses and a Mexican guide, and on the third day my wife and I resumed our journey to the ranch, 75 miles distant.

"It was a terrible journey, lasting many nights and many days. It was through an almost trackless country.
For days at a time our only sustenance was the juice and roots of cactus plants and wild berries. We slept upon the ground without covering. I cannot tell you how happy we were when we struck a Mexican jacal, just the other side of the Rio Grande, and later were brought to this side of the river and then to Boquillas."

RANCHMAN DIES IN POSTHOLE

Californian Falls Into Excavation and Is Suffocated, Being Unable to Extricate Himself.

Stockton, Cal.—Romain Moll, a wealthy rancher of this county, met an unusual and tragic death.

Moll and his foreman returned to his ranch near Escalon after attending to business matters in Stockton.
Moll started to walk to Escalon. He cut across the fields and while walking near the Tidewater & Southern railroad stumbled over a mound of dirt and fell head first into a post-hole.

The hole was about two feet wide and six feet deep. Moll was unable to get out and was suffocated.

His body was found by a section crew. The men noticed a little dog standing on the track. They followed the dog, which took them to the place where his master had met his death.

BULL DIES HEROIC DEATH

Charges J. Jensen's Auto in North Dakota While the Herd Flees in Terror.

Beach, N. D.—A rangy, red grass-fed bull, with a wicked eye in his broad head, pawed the prairie and roared a challenge in response to the bugling of J. Jensen's auto horn. Presently the wicked eye located the machine, which was coming the bull's way at 40 miles an hour, raising much dust.

The cows and calves galloped for safety, but the red bull knew his duty. Down the road he thundered, tail in air. Mr. Jensen shut his eyes and hung to the steering wheel. The bull closed his eyes also as his mighty skull banged the radiator. He doubled up on himself and was pitched to the roadside, where he kicked out once or twice, and lay still.

The cows and calves low in vain for their protector, and Mr. Jensen has sent away for a new radiator.

CONWAY ACQUIRES NEAT ROLL

Ticket Agent Who Collected Refund Checks Is Rewarded by Supreme Court Ruling.

Huntington, W. Va.—When the United States Supreme Court sustained a two-cent passenger fare law of West Virginia it virtually placed in the pocket of John J. Conway of this place approximately $5,000.

When the law was enacted by the West Virginia legislature, in 1911, the railroads appealed to the courts and continued to charge three cents a mile, giving passengers coupons entitling them to a rebate of one cent a mile if the courts decided the two-cent law was constitutional.

Conway, who was a Chesapeake & Ohio railroad ticket agent, noticed that many persons threw the coupons away, and realizing that they may some day be good, he began collecting them. The decision found him with about $5,000 worth of perfectly good coupons in his possession.

YOUNG BRIDE SUES PARENTS

Wife of Seventeen Years Takes Playthings of Childhood to Her New Home.

Denver, Colo.—"Three dolls and a teddy bear."

As Constable Sam C. Dorsey of Justice Rice's court called off these articles from a long list of children's playthings, Edith V. Chase, a seventeen-year-old bride, sorted them from a pile heaped high in the outer office. She was to take them to her home—her new home—following a decision of the court in a reprieve action that she was entitled to the playthings of her childhood, even though her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Willis, attempted to retain them when their daughter became the wife of S. L. Chase, son of Adjutant General Chase, last December. The marriage was objected to because of the girl's tender years.

Other things in the lot were a little red wagon, a post card with soldier buttons on it, a magic lantern, one school cook-book, two skirts for a doll, one picture of Cupid, and other things, with a value only to the one who has possessed them in childhood.

Orange Restores Man's Memory.

New York.—Found wandering aimlessly about the streets of Brooklyn Chauncey Rogers, fifty-seven, of West Orange, N. J., was unable to remember his name or address. As he entered the police station he spied an orange on the lieutenant's desk. "Orange," he said. "Ah! That's it, where I live." Further investigation confirmed his discovery.

Truck Replaced Three Teams

In eleven months this three-ton KisselKar Truck covered in actual service 4,760 miles at a fuel cost of $1.08 per day. Manned by a driver and one helper, it replaced three teams of horses. The average daily burden was 37 17.20ths tons. It carried an average load of four tons—one ton overload—but in the entire period named, was laid up only two and one-half hours for repairs.

"We can recommend the KisselKar Truck and assure that it lives up to its guarantee," writes Thomas E. Fleischer, manager of the Sheboygan Lime Works.

Two and one-half hours for repairs, carrying over 37 tons per day is a record worthy of notice. KisselKar Trucks cost little to maintain and are economical to operate because the problem is solved in KisselKar construction.

Note these striking KisselKar features—Simple engine—easy to operate—reserve power—excess capacity—differential lock preventing one drive wheel absorbing all the power on slippery places, and stalling the truck—four speed transmitters geared up—fourth speed permitting high speed when desired without racing engine; 15 to 20 per cent. lower fuel consumption than average trucks—light spring suspension for power plant, heavy spring suspension for load—gauge that weighs load—greatest accessibility—easy control—larger brake drums, and extra powerful brakes—special bodies designed to meet every need.

KisselKar Trucks

In the range of capacity, 1500 lbs. to 5 tons, you can find just the type that fills your requirements—and with the KisselKar Truck goes the KisselKar Service, which is the manufacturer's guarantee of satisfaction.

KisselKar Service means taking off your hands all of the mechanical details. A special service building is maintained in this city for the benefit of KisselKar owners. The KisselKar service is a broad and comprehensive arrangement between manufacturer and owners that cares for the car, maintains efficiency, retards depreciation and minimizes upkeep. This service is a valuable consideration in the purchase of a power wagon. Investigate it.

Public Auction

OF FINE

NELSON COUNTY FARM.

WILL BE HELD ON THE PREMISES

Wednesday, August 6, 1913.

AT 10:30 O'CLOCK A. M.

The heirs at law of the late Dr. Orion N. Cox have decided to offer at public sale the magnificent Cox homestead, at Cox's Creek, Ky. This farm contains about 235 acres of fine bluegrass land, every foot of which is tillable, and has been rested for several years, so that it is practically all in grass. It is an ideal stock farm, well watered and improved. There is a splendid 8 room house that is in fine condition, as well as other outbuildings.

This farm lies on the Central Lincoln Way, convenient to churches, schools and railroads; is bordered by three turnpike roads, and directly on the surveys for the electric road from Louisville to Bardstown. The community is an excellent one and this farm a fine investment. It will be offered first in three separate tracts and then as a whole.

Write or call on H. R. Cox, Bardstown, Ky., or J. Tyler Davis, 416 Equitable Building, Louisville, for further information.

Terms made known on day of sale.

Don't Forget the Date, Wednesday,
August 6, 1913.

lady clerks in the store of Frank & Co. became panic stricken when the roof was blown from the building and hurled with great force into Fourth street, impeding traffic and damaging adjoining property. The property is owned by Mrs. Mollie Roche, who suffered a considerable loss. According to a rough estimate, the damage to the stock of goods of Frank & Co., together with that sustained to the building will amount to $15,000.

Another heavy loser is Mayor J. T. Hinton, whose immense furniture store at the corner of Main and Sixth street was unroofed and his entire stock of furniture almost ruined by water. All of the goods on the first floor that could be easily handled were taken to the building of Mr. Ed. Tucker, across the street where it was stored until the damage can be repaired. The heaviest loss was sustained in the carpet department, where thousands of dollars worth of carpets were damaged by the water.

The building occupied by Clarke & Co., and owned by Mr. Hinton, was stripped from its roof from the front to the rear of the building. The force of the heavy wind carried the rafters of the structure, which were piled up in great heaps in the rear yard.

Mr. Robert Frank, a member of the firm of Frank & Co., had a narrow escape from death or serious injury, when he was struck on the head by a piece of flying timber. Mr. Frank, thinking the storm would be severe, attempted to reach his home on High street, when the storm was at its height. In front of Dr. D. B. Anderson's office a piece of falling timber struck him on the head. He was partly stunned by the blow, but was able to proceed in the blinding rain to his home.

Another miraculous escape is reported. C. T. Fightmaster, who resides on Fourth street, was seated at a window at his home, when he received a telephone call. He went to answer the call, and when few feet from the window, a chimney came crashing through.

The stable occupied by Mr. J. U. Boardman on Bank Row, was unroofed by the wind, and blown into the rear yard of the Kentuckian-Citizen office causing considerable damage to adjoining property. Bricks were hurled through the roofs of the two smaller buildings adjoining.

opposite the Elks' building was badly damaged by the wind. The roof was torn off and the front of the building from the windows of the second story blown in.

The loss of a number of horses was narrowly averted when a section of the stable of Thomas Morris, on Pleasant street collapsed. Several horses were hitched in this portion of the building which was constructed of wood and brick. This section collapsed and the animals were pinioned beneath the debris. Five of the horses were rescued without much difficulty, while a fine gelding belonging to John Brophy was so badly injured that it had to be destroyed.

Pleasant street from Sixth to Twelfth was covered with branches of trees that had blown across the thoroughfare, while Walker's avenue, on the highest point in the city, was blocked by a score of telephone poles that were snapped off at the ground and blown across the street. The roof of many residences in this part of the city were badly damaged and many chimneys blown off.

Great excitement prevailed for a time in the grocery store of T. C. Lenihan at the corner of Main and Eighth streets. The store furnished a refuge for a number of pedestrians among whom were several ladies. When the tin roof from the building of Stuart & O'Brien, directly opposite was blown off it was hurled with great force across the street in front of the grocery store. Two women fainted from fright, while others thinking the building in which they had taken refuge was being blown to pieces attempted to force their way through the doorway into the street, and it was with great difficulty that those who remained their composure to restrain them.

The building occupied by C. S. Goldstein was damaged to a considerable extent when the roof was blown off and his stock of goods was almost completely ruined by water. A large glass in the store of Mr. Harry Simon was broken. Miss Jessie Brown suffered considerable damage to her stock of embroidery goods.

The residence of Dr. Frank Fithian on Houston avenue was struck by lightning and caught fire, but the immense volume of water which accompanied the storm extinguished the blaze. Hundreds of beautiful shade trees throughout the city were blown down, or stripped of their foliage.

Three of the heaviest losers in the storm were the Cumberland Telephone Co., the Bourbon Home Telephone Co. and the Paris Gas & Electric Co. More than one-half of the telephones in the city have been put out of commission as a result of the lines being blown down. A large force of men are now employed in repairing the damage. The city was without street lights Saturday night from the fact that it was considered unsafe to turn on the current with so many of the electric wires down or crossed with broken telephone wires. Extra workmen were employed all of Sunday in getting the lines in shape to turn on the current.

While the loss in the city will go far into the thousands, it is nothing as compared with those sustained by the farmers of the county. From reports received, more than fifty tobacco barns in the county were demolished by the high wind and crops suffered both from wind and hail. In some sections of the county the losses will be comparatively light, while in others it cannot be estimated.

Until a short time ago, scarcely one person in a thousand had ever tasted a really good soda cracker—as it came fresh and crisp from the oven.

Hail fell in the vicinity of North Middletown, destroying tobacco by the acre. On the farm of Mr. Brice Steele twenty-four acres of tobacco was riddled by the hailstones and a large portion of a crop of one hundred and ninety acres of corn leveled to the ground. Will Wornall also suffered considerable from the fall of hail, which almost completely destroyed his tobacco crop. Other reports from his section of the county are to the effect that the damage cannot be estimated. Following is a partial list of those who sustained damage:

Dr. Frank Fithian's mammoth tobacco barn in East Paris; Steele Marsh's tobacco barn two miles north of Paris, on the Maysville pike; John Woodford's $1,200 tobacco barn was entirely destroyed full of machinery; H. H. Hancock lost two tobacco barns and one silo; Charlton Clay, one new stock barn and silo just completed, on Winchester pike; Mr. Plummer one tobacco barn on Clintonville pike, near Paris; Mrs. Robert Talbot, tobacco barn on Georgetown pike; W. D. Peed's tobacco barn on the Cynthiana pike, four miles north of Paris. This barn was 350 feet long by 44 feet wide, and said to be the largest barn ever built in Bourbon county.

Tobacco barn on John Roseberry's farm on the Little Rock pike; B. B. Marsh's house unroofed and barn blown down; Sidney Ardery's barn on the Clay & Kiser pike; house on Geo. Rassenfoss' place; John M. Clay's barn; also George Burberry's, A. D. Leach, Vol Ferguson, C. M. Clay, J. S. Roberts, James Smelser, Reynolds Letton, Wm. Becraft, Frank White's silo, Doc Riffitt, James W. Ferguson, John Toohey, Dr. W. C. Ussery, Green Leer, Lindsay Stuart, Will Clark, Price Johnson's silo and barn, Thomas Nichols, Mrs. Nellie Highland, Frank P. Clay all lost barns.

F. P. Clay, large barn blown down; Bourbon Packing plant roof and side wall damaged; J. L. Leach, chimneys blown off of dwelling and windows blown out; Mrs. E. L. Harris, chimney blown off and roof damaged; Mm. Hehr chimney blown off dwelling and roof damaged; Mrs. Kate Clarke, tobacco barn badly damaged; T. F. Flora, chimney blown off and roof of dwelling damaged; E. M. Wheeler, chimney blown off, roof damaged and windows blown out; Wm. Wornall, one barn blown off foundation and completely destroyed; T. J. Day, 16 acres of tobacco; D. L. Leggett, 7 acres of tobacco; Chas. Fisher, 10 acres of tobacco; D. G. Wagoner, five and one-half acres of tobacco, all damaged by hail; Mrs. Nellie Highland, roof of dwelling damaged and roof completely blown off barn.

Persons arriving in this city Saturday afternoon reported the roads almost impassable for the trees that had been blown down and overlapped the highways. Many of those enroute to town were compelled to cut their way through. Several were caught in the storm and forced to seek shelter from the elements.

Edgar McClintock, son of Mr. Bert McClintock, of Millersburg, was enroute to Paris for a wagon load of ice for Best & Hawkins and when entering the city, storm broke with all its fury. One of the mules he was driving became frightened at the lightning and becoming unruly stripped himself of his harness. Young McClintock by heroic efforts succeeded in quieting the animal and hitching the team to the rear of the wagon, sought shelter from the storm.

The storm was the worst that has ever been experienced in this section of the State and was general throughout Central Kentucky, while Bourbon, Scott and Franklin counties seemed to be the center of destruction.

The storm wrought great destruction in the beautiful Paris cemetery. It is estimated that fifty trees were blown down, blocking the drive ways, and entailing a heavy damage to tombstones. The beautiful residence of Mr. Jesse Turney, on the Maysville pike was badly damaged. Scores of residences in the city suffered minor damage.

Madison in Path.

Madison county was in the path of the storm that swept Central Kentucky Saturday morning. The storm continued for half an hour and was accompanied by an electrical display. Much stock was killed by lightning.

Girl Killed in Nicholas
Cyclonic winds Saturday demolished dozen tobacco barns, unroofed houses in Nicholas and lightning struck the residence of Jacob Snapp, a farmer, killing his daughter, Etta, aged 13 years. Hail did much damage to corn, wheat and tobacco.

JOE ROY IS STABBED BY A NEGRO WOMAN.

Joe Roy, a negro blacksmith at the construction camp of Duane & Carlan, near Austerlitz, this county, was badly stabbed in the arm early Sunday morning by Lizzie Mitchell, a negress.

The man was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington about noon Sunday and it is believed his arm may have to be amputated.

The negress was arrested and brought to this city and lodged in jail. Before medical aid could be secured Roy came near bleeding to death.

It is reported the woman killed a negro with whom she was living in Tennessee several weeks ago. The authorities are investigating.
